Professional artists and community members are invited to participate in “Cat Show (Come to Mama!),” an exhibition at the Community College of Rhode Island Knight Campus Art Gallery in Warwick this spring composed of work that reacts to the way Americans look at, care for, treat, pamper and love their cats.

EXHIBITION:
“Cat Show (Come to Mama!)”
April 3 to 25
Reception 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., Thursday, April 12

PROFESSIONAL ARTISTS may submit one or two old or new artworks including painting, drawing, object, sculpture, video, photography, sound piece, etc. These either will be projected as a slideshow or will be displayed as actual art pieces. Please e-mail an image (postcard-size jpg, between 100 KB and 2 MB) of your artwork to knightgallery@ccri.edu by March 15 and indicate the size, technique, year of creation and whether the piece is available for display. There is no entry fee. Selected works must be delivered to the gallery by March 29.

ALL COMMUNITY MEMBERS are invited to submit a 4-by-6-inch or 5-by-7-inch photo attached to letter-size paper with your answers to some or all of these questions:
1. What is your name and your cat’s name?
2. I love my cat because…
3. My cat is funny because…
4. My cat is special because…
Or, e-mail the photo and your answers to knightgallery@ccri.edu by March 29.
