

CCRI Health Science Programs 2009 Performance-Based Application Process for Students

To Apply

If you are a new degree or non-degree student please submit an Application for Enrollment located in the CCRI Catalog or on the CCRI Web page: www.ccri.edu/catalog/application.pdf. On section 4 of the CCRI Application for Enrollment, you should apply to General Studies as your first choice and the health science program of interest as a second choice. Please see the following Web site for more information about program requirements and campus locations. www.ccri.edu/dean-hrs/admiss-docs.shtml

If you are currently enrolled in a degree or certificate program and have earned credits at a college you previously attended, please submit an official college transcript from that college to the Flanagan Campus at 1762 Louisquisset Pike, Lincoln, RI 02865. Please see the following Web site for more information about transfer credit. www.ccri.edu/OES/admissions/tran_info.shtml

If you would like additional information about the health science programs, please visit the Office of Enrollment Services on any of the four main campuses or call the office at 401-825-2003 to register for an information session. Procedures, policies and course requirements will be discussed at the session.

The performance-based health science application process is a competitive process that recognizes academic achievement. In addition to completing pre-admission requirements, you will be considered based on performance- based criteria. Please refer to the following Web site for more information. <http://www.ccri.edu/dean-hrs/>
