

October 5, 2011

Meeting centered on a review of college missions found in aspirational institutions:

Community College of Philadelphia

Community College of Baltimore

Delaware Technical Community College

CCRI's Mission-Our History (online)

A review of the places where the CCRI Mission is found was discussed as well as preparation underway for the co-chair NEASC meeting scheduled for October 19, 2011

Mission was found in print: in the viewbook, strategic plan, student resource guide and catalog. The primary website of CCRI was the online access point.

Questions the committee generated:

Is the current mission statement as prominent as it should be?

Do student, faculty, staff know at least the elements of the mission?

Does the current wording reflect the 21st Century Commission Report recommendations/new wording of our charter?

Is the April 2005 draft version statement reflected in the current mission?

Next Steps:

Consider places where mission should be.

Consider survey to gain feedback as to the extent to which students, Faculty, staff, and the general public know about the College Mission.

Improve visibility of mission in strategic locations.
